

Fire Leaves 9 Dead, 7 Children

By HAL GULLIVER
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A flaming gas explosion wrecked a suburban day nursery Wednesday, killing nine persons, seven of them children, 16 months to 14 years old. Three other children were injured.

Two women employees of the nursery in suburban Hapeville perished while trying to save the young children in their care.

"When you're crawling around and you hear babies pleading, and you can't find them—it hurts," said L. F. Redwine, who works nearby and plunged into the shattered building to help rescue the children.

Fire Chief J. P. Nunn said the explosion occurred after the operator of a bulldozer struck a gas line in front of the building. The escaping gas filled the basement of the nursery and was apparently ignited by a water heater flame or other spark, Nunn said.

Nunn was at his home in the same block as the nursery when he heard the explosion.

"The flames came right away, mostly in the center of the building. It's the worst thing I've seen in 20 years," Nunn said.

Police said the nursery manager, Mrs. J. M. Cardner, 50, of Hapeville, died in the flaming building after going back inside to try to evacuate the children.

Also killed was Mildred Reeves, about 30, of Atlanta, a nursery employee.

The immediate efforts of nursery employees and nearby workers kept the death list from rising higher, witnesses said.

The children were taking their daily nap when the gas line was broken, a nursery employee, Mrs. Willie Lee Reeds, said. Employees started taking one group of children to an adjoining house, then the explosion came.

Police said about 45 children and adults were in the one-story wooden frame building when the explosion came at 2 p.m.

Frantic parents rushed to the scene as soon as they heard news of the explosion. Most were young, apparently working people.

About 300 people lined the street by the smoking ruins, as firemen and police sifted through the wreckage for five hours searching for bodies.

For more than an hour, a driving rain made the search more difficult.

A dozen or so persons, mostly children, were treated at hospitals and three were admitted.

Police said the bulldozer operator, 41-year-old William Spearman of Forest Park, tried desperately to find a gas shutoff after his machine broke the gas line.

Small Fry Are Tax Conscious

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even the small fry are more conscious these days of the tax collector.

Internal Revenue Service officials said a Virginia first grade teacher asked her pupils what each would do if he had 24 hours and all the money he needed.

One 7-year-old boy replied: "I'd take a trip around the world, buy two dogs and a parakeet, and I'd save some out for my income tax."

Group Plans Protest to Humphrey

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A member of the University of Arkansas faculty said today that a group of individuals, including himself, would walk out of the commencement exercises here Saturday when an honorary degree is conferred on Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Jeffrey G. Shapiro, an assistant professor of research and training at the university, made the statement. He said the persons who walk out will not be connected with any group.

Shapiro said it would probably be a "small group" that would walk out.

An antiwar group composed of students and faculty members plans to demonstrate against Humphrey Saturday.

The group, called Citizens Concerned About Vietnam, said its demonstration would be similar to the silent vigils it has been holding every Wednesday for months near the U of A campus in protest of the war.

"We demonstrate to show our concern over this tragic war," the group said in a mimeographed bulletin. "We demonstrate to remind ourselves that Mr. Humphrey is no ordinary visitor. Mr. Humphrey is one of the prime spokesmen for the Johnson administration's war policies."

The group said the demonstration would be "silent and nondisruptive" and would begin at 1 p.m. Humphrey is expected to arrive at the airport at 1:15 p.m.

HOUSE VOTES from Page One needed the bill to increase its appeal to tourists and he said the bill would pass in the 1969 regular session.

Hurst told the senators that "Arkansas is on the verge of bankruptcy and one little bill, Senate Bill 17, can bring us out of this. We have a chance to tell Arkansas that we have passed one piece of legislation that guarantees revenue for Arkansas."

Sen. Morrell Cathright of Pine Bluff carried the strongest fight against the bill. He said the people had been misled into believing that it was a local option measure when, in fact, mixed drinks would be legalized in private clubs without any vote whatsoever.

The bill provided the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board power to license private clubs that met certain restrictions, including having been in existence for at least two years.

The House defeated the riot control bill 15-76 after opponents said it would give the governor "more power than a good man wants and more power than a bad man should have." The bill was patterned closely after a new Oklahoma law.

Rep. James L. Sheets of Siloam Springs, a Republican, who sponsored the measure, was the only legislator who spoke in favor of the bill.

Rep. C. B. Nance of West Memphis said that passage of the bill would be "the beginning of the erosion of people's rights. This country is as close to anarchy now as it will ever come."

With the major tax bills already defeated in the House, the legislature dug deeper into the state's reserves Wednesday to help the state-supported colleges and universities and the penitentiary.

Abraham Lincoln was the first Republican president of the United States.

Decline in Number of War Dead

SAIGON (AP) — The number of American servicemen killed in Vietnam went down last week, although more were wounded than in the previous two heavy-loss weeks, the U.S. Command announced today.

It said that 426 Americans were killed in the week ending Saturday and 2,687 were wounded. Of the wounded, 1,419 required hospitalization and the other 1,268 were treated and returned to action. The two previous weeks of intense fighting near Saigon and along the demilitarized zone resulted in record numbers of Americans slain in weekly counts—562 killed in the week ending May 11 and 549 the following week.

The wounded for those two weeks, however, were 2,225 and 2,282.

South Vietnamese Army headquarters also announced that casualties among government troops were down despite the continuing fight around Saigon. It listed 340 killed, 1,151 wounded and 24 missing last week compared to 475 killed, 1,476 wounded and 71 missing the preceding week.

The allied command announced that 2,550 enemy soldiers were killed last week—less than half the number slain the week before. The U.S.-Vietnamese command said 5,348 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the week ending May 18, updating that figure from the 4,765 reported last Thursday.

The U.S. Command, tabulating U.S. and enemy casualties from Jan. 1, 1961, through May 25, 1968, gave these figures:

American losses—23,926 killed; 146,363 wounded, of whom 77,001 were hospitalized, and 1,215 missing, captured or interned.

Enemy killed—353,207.

Pink and white ice cream cake trimmed with a pink rose was served with punch, nuts, and bonbons. Mrs. Portus Gilley served the cake and Miss Elaine Gilley, the punch. Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "To Tell the Truth" was up to its old tricks on Wednesday as a panel of four tried to pick the one man out of three who was the real author of a new book. But when September rolls around, it will be, in all probability, one of television's vintage programs that will be missing.

After 12 years, CBS will probably administer the coup de grace because of low ratings and what are known as demographics, which are statistics gathered by audience research companies to show the composition of audiences by age, sex, buying power and the like. "Truth," it seems, has strong appeal to the older audiences—this is evident since one of its participating sponsors manufactures an adhesive for dental plates. Today the big daytime push is in the direction of the young housewife—the big consumer of everything from wash-dry products to dessert toppings.

The ceremony will be performed in the home of the bride on Saturday, June 15 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. Wayne Langston.

testants has become almost as well known as his order: "Will the real . . . stand up?" Another long-playing CBS show, "What's My Line?" bit the dust recently but apparently its producers and even CBS—whose TV network dropped the old show—believes there is still life in the old format.

Another division of the CBS empire will sell a new production of the old game show to local stations, but only Arlene Francis will be back on the panel.

As for "Truth," Collyer and Miss Carlisle are still playing the game this week.

SIGNAL THAT from Page One

not definitely believe the message came from the Scorpion. He added it could have come from a shore radio.

The Pentagon previously cautioned against overoptimism that a dramatic development had occurred. Like Ingraham, the Pentagon said the message could have been a hoax.

One of the Navy craft picking up the message took a bearing of 75 degrees on the signal. But because no other ship could get a second bearing, there was no fix—or point of transmission—available.

Ingraham said, "It is extremely doubtful that a transmission of this type could be originated by a submarine that may be submerged or bottomed in that vicinity"—the general area where the signal was heard.

He said the Scorpion "certainly would know a search was in progress for her" and "she would be on the surface" transmitting.

Ingraham reported the ocean in the general area where the signal was heard is 12,000 feet deep. This is well beyond the continental shelf, which extends some 70 to 80 miles seaward.

However, officials have said the actual point of origin of the signal could have been a great distance from where the search craft were when they heard it.

The Navy has said it would be optimistic about rescuing the Scorpion's crew if the sub were found on the continental shelf, where depths reach about 650 feet.

Present Navy rescue equipment—modifications of gear used 30 years ago—is rated to make saves to a depth of 850 feet.

However, Navy rescue experts have said that as a practical matter, the diving bell and its tender would have difficulty executing a rescue deeper than 300 feet because of difficulty in maintaining position above the submarine in the open sea.

Experts have said that in order to communicate by radio a submarine must be close enough to the surface for its antenna to poke above the water.

A submarine can receive messages if slightly submerged by means of a wire antenna trailing the sub.

If in trouble below the surface or disabled on the bottom, the sub could float to the surface a distress buoy carrying an antenna.

Such a buoy-mounted system has somewhat limited range, Navy men said.

If the Scorpion were located a few hundred feet down, the Navy probably would send a rescue vessel with the diving bell to the scene.

The submarine would send to the surface a cable attached to a buoy with a telephone inside. This would permit the rescue crew to talk to the trapped submariners.

The rescue ship would use the buoy cable to guide the big steel chamber down to the sub, where it would be mated with a hatch.

The sub crewmen would climb into a chamber below the hatch, undergo pressurization, and then go up into the bell. Eight men at a time can be lifted to the surface in this fashion.

Indianapolis Speedway in Progress

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A horde of motor speed fans poured slowly into the water-logged Indianapolis Motor Speedway today, optimistic that the weather would relent long enough for running of the 52nd 500-mile race.

They were drawn by a showdown between turbine and conventional piston engines, started but unresolved last year. Rain which had fallen almost daily during the four-week practice and qualification period had left some of the cars incompletely tested.

The limited running time may have added to the hazards of running at the venerable racing plant where 58 persons have been killed.

The rain certainly added to the hazards of the 300-acre infield, where 25,000 cars normally are parked during the race. It was a mixture of mud and puddles.

Meanwhile, the writers and broadcasters voted Graham Hill of London, 1962 world champion and 1966 Indianapolis winner, a 5-1 favorite to win the 500 again in his Lotus-Pratt & Whitney turbine.

In fact, the news media folk were so impressed by the Lotus turbines that they voted the three in the line-up to finish 1-2-3. The other two are driven by Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., who won the pole position at a record qualifying speed of 171.559 m.p.h., and Art Pollard, a sophomore at the speedway from Medford, Ore.

A possible crowd of 300,000 would not have showed up only for a turbine shoo-in. It was laced with long-time fans for such veterans as A.J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, shooting for an unprecedented fourth 500 victory; Mario Andretti, of Nazareth, Pa., who has broken the 10-mile qualifying record three times, and chargers like the Unser brothers and international racer Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, Calif. The hottest 1968 drivers in the field were Hill, fresh from winning the Spanish and Monaco Grand Prix events, and Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., winner of the last three championship events on the U.S. Auto Club circuit.

The field was unique in having sons of two former Indianapolis contenders in the line-up. They were Billy Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., whose father won the race twice, and Gary Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., whose father was a perennial contender.

There had been only two other father-son racers at the speedway since 1911, Earl and Billy Devore and Than and Norm Houder.

Horlen Hurls White Sox Over Orioles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago's Joe Horlen and Tom McCraw are keeping in step after a few false starts while Detroit's Denny McLain is stepping out on his own.

Horlen fired a five-hitter and McCraw tripled two runs home Wednesday night as the White Sox beat Baltimore 3-1, ending a six-game losing string as well as the Orioles' six-game victory skid.

The victory was Horlen's fourth in a row after five straight losses. McCraw, who contributed to one of the Horlen's setbacks by committing three errors in one inning, has driven in winnings runs in three of the right-hander's victories.

McLain became the American League's first eight-game winner, stopping California on four hits and striking out 13 in the Tigers' 3-0 triumph over the Angels.

The Detroit ace, beaten only once in 11 starts, went the distance for the eighth time and kept pace with San Francisco's Juan Marichal, who won his eighth National League game Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, Dave Boswell pitched a three-hitter and drove in the winning run with a foul pop-up in Minnesota's 1-0 nod over Cleveland and Danny Cater's four RBI led Oakland past Boston 7-4. Washington and New York were not scheduled.

San Francisco edged St. Louis 2-1 behind Marichal, Cincinnati shaded Los Angeles 6-5 and Philadelphia split a two-night doubleheader with Chicago, winning 8-3 after a 9-2 loss to the Cubs, in National League action. Houston was rained out at Atlanta and the New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates were idle.

Horlen, who ran his scoreless innings streak to 37 before yielding a sixth inning run, needed only 100 pitches to subdue the Orioles and halt Chicago's tailspin.

McCraw tripled down the first base line for the first of Chicago's three hits in the game, giving the Sox a 2-0 first inning lead against Dave McNally. They added a run in the fourth when Buddy Bradford singled, stole second and tallied on a single by Ken Berry.

Paul Blair doubled in the Orioles' sixth and scored the first run off Horlen in five games on a single by Curt Blefary.

Dick McAuliffe's run-scoring single off Jim McGlothlin in the sixth gave McLain the only help he needed, but Willie Horton provided insurance with a two-run seventh inning homer. It was Horton's 13th homer—and fifth in six games against the Angels.

Cesar Tovar singled in the fifth inning at Minnesota, stole second and took third on Jackie Hernandez' single before Boswell popped to Cleveland first baseman Tony Horton about 50 feet beyond the bag. Tovar broke for home after the catch and beat the hurried relay from Horton to pitcher Steve Hargan to the plate.

The A's spotted Boston three first inning runs, countered with three in their half of the first and swept past the Red Sox behind right-hander Jim "Catfish" Hunter. Cater drove in two runs with a first inning single, delivered another with a ground out in the third and hit a sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Hunter, victim of two Oakland errors in the first, weathered 10 Boston hits in bringing his season mark to 5-3.

Punter Is Signed by Arkansas
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Razorback Coach Frank Broyles signed Wednesday a punter from Ferrum, Va., Junior College.

Broyles personally went to Richmond, Va., to sign Cary Stockell, a 6-foot-5 220-pounder who once kicked the ball 80 yards in the air.

Stockell previously had signed a nonbinding letter of intent with the University of Colorado. "We felt whatever chances we have to win next fall would be increased if we could come up with a punter," Broyles said. "This has helped our chances tremendously." Stockell averaged 48.8 yards a kick as a freshman and averaged 45.6 yards in 1967. Stockell, who wears size 13-D shoes, averaged 55 yards in one game.

EPSOM, England (AP) — Sir Ivor was the toast of racegoers and the pride of American owner Raymond Guest of New York for winning the English Derby Wednesday in a thrilling burst of speed.

The American-bred colt—hatched by English champion jockey Lester Piggott as the finest racehorse he's ever ridden—immediately was installed as the odds-on favorite for the Irish Derby June 29.

Guest, the U.S. ambassador to Ireland, won a total of $289,261 when the 4-5 favorite came on with a rush in the last furlong. The winning share was worth $140,461 to Guest, who also won an additional $148,800 in bets. Sir Ivor, a 3-year-old, finished 1 1/2 lengths ahead of English-owned Connought, Mount Athos was third, another 2 1/2 lengths back in the 13-horse field. The time for the 1 1/2 mile turf race was 2:38.7.

Twins Name a New Coach

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—John Goryl, former manager of the Denver Bears, was named coach of the Minnesota Twins Wednesday, succeeding Billy Martin, recently appointed manager of the Pacific Coast League team.

Winning War Against AL Hitters

ANAHEIM (AP)—Denny McLain is winning his war against American League hitters but taking a drubbing in his vendetta with the baseball fans of Detroit.

The Tigers' ace right-hander revealed for the first time here Wednesday night that his wife and infant daughter recently averted possible serious injury after someone in Detroit placed a bomb in the family car.

The incident occurred 10 days ago, only a few days after McLain publicly accused Detroit fans of booing the team to such an extent last season that it cost the Tigers the American League pennant. They finished one game behind champion Boston.

McLain says his wife and daughter were driving from the Detroit stadium to their suburban home when they pulled off a highway to get gas.

"The attendant looked under the hood and discovered there was a smoke bomb wired to the ignition," McLain said here Wednesday night after he pitched a four-hitter and struck out 13 in a 3-0 victory over the California Angels.

"If the bomb had gone off when my wife was driving at high speed, she and the baby both could have been killed," he said.

"But the bomb wasn't wired properly. It was supposed to go off when she turned on the ignition."

"If anything had happened, I'd have spent the rest of my life finding out who was responsible."

McLain, 8-1, leads the American League in victories, has gone the route in eight of his first 11 starts and has reduced his earned run average to a microscopic 1.92.

Ironically, his lone defeat came the first time he pitched at home after publicly blasting Detroit fans for booing the players. Baltimore pounded him en route to a 10-8 victory.

Athletic Head Refuses to Give Apology

LOS ALTOS, Calif. (AP) — The Rev. Wilfred H. Crowley, president of the U.S. Track and Field Federation, refused Wednesday to apologize to Theodore Kheel, mediator in a track dispute with the Amateur Athletic Union.

Crowley had accused Kheel of bias, saying the mediator was a member of the New York Athletic Club whose indoor track meet in New York last February was boycotted by Negro athletes who claimed the club's membership policies were discriminatory.

Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee, demanded that Crowley apologize to Kheel, a New York lawyer, for accusing him of bias. Kheel said he had never even applied for membership in the NYAC.

Crowley said he had been misinformed about Kheel's membership in the NYAC, but told Magnuson "your request for an apology to Kheel on the charge of bias must be denied."

Kheel was chairman of a federal arbitration panel mediating a dispute between the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which is allied with the USTFF, and the AAU over control of amateur track and field.

Ussery Will Ride Jade Amicol

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Ussery is looking for a mare to breed to Dancer's Image, but the most immediate thought on his mind is finding the finish line first aboard Jade Amicol.

Ussery was set to ride Dancer's Image in Saturday's 1 1/2-mile Belmont Stakes, but when owner Peter Fuller retired the hard-luck colt the veteran jockey got the mount on Jade Amicol.

If Ussery wins the Belmont with Jade Amicol, it would be the second of the three Triple Crown races in which he finished first.

However, his Derby victory was wiped out when Dancer's Image was disqualified after a post-race test revealed an illegal medication in his system. Ussery's search for a broodmare stems from an offer Fuller made Tuesday when he announced Dancer's Image was being retired to stud. The Boston sportsman said that if Ussery has a mare he would get a chance at the services of Dancer's Image.

A victory by Watermill Farm's Jade Amicol, or any one of seven other possible starters, would keep Calumet Farm's Forward Pass from becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Calumet's Citation in 1948.

Forward Pass, who once again will be ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, was placed first in the Derby after Dancer's Image's disqualification and then convincingly won the Preakness. The son of On-and-On, the early favorite to win the Belmont, breezed five furlongs in 1:01 2-5 Wednesday morning.

Trainer Max Hirsch sent Mrs. Adele Rand's Call Me Prince six furlongs in 1:20 and out a mile in 1:50. Bill Boland is set to ride the colt, who likely will run as an entry with Robert J. Kleberg's Draft Card, who also is trained by Hirsch. John Rotz will ride Draft Card.

Another hopeful to work out was Gustave Ring's Ardolse, who will have Braulio Baeza aboard. Ardolse went a handy five furlongs in 1:01.

If nine horses go to the post at 5:30 p.m., EDT, the gross purse will be $161,450, with $117,700 to the winner, equaling the high for the race established in 1966 when Amberolf won.

CBS will televise the race nationally from 5 p.m.-5:45 p.m. While the connections of the Belmont 3-year-olds are awaiting the big day, those of 11 others had a shot at big money today in the $100,000-added, 1 1/4-mile Jersey Derby.

Heading the field of 11 starters was Peter Kissel's Iron Ruler. Others entered included Alley Fighter, Nodible, Captain's Gil, Salerno, Out of the Way and Bugged.

Older horses also went after big money today in the $100,000-added Metropolitan Handicap over one mile at Belmont Park. With Dr. Fager withdrawn because of a severe attack of colic, the favorite's role went to Mrs. Frances A. Genter's In Reality, who had top weight of 124 pounds.

French Strike Ruins Tennis Tournament

PARIS (AP) — Some 33 men and nine women were forced to default Wednesday when they were unable to reach the French Open Tennis Championships because of the nationwide work stoppage plaguing France.

In the matches that were played, the professionals received one scare after another but overcame their amateur opponents in each case.

Among those listed as non-arrivals were Lew Hoad of Australia, Marty Riessen of Evansville, Ill., Wilhelm Bungert of West Germany, Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and the contingents from Japan and India.

Fred Stolle, an Australian pro, struggled for more than two hours before overcoming Christian Duxin, 13th-ranked French amateur, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Roy Emerson of Australia, a rookie pro, dropped the first set to Lounny Parum of New Zealand before winning 5-7, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. Ken Rosewall, another Australian, outlasted Tom Edeslon of San Francisco 10-8, 6-1, 6-1. The first set lasted almost an hour.

Pandro Gonzales turned back Ray Keldie of Australia 6-2, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3. Rod Laver, the red-haired Australian who ranks as the top pro, crushed Lance Lumsden of Jamaica, B.W.I., 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

Blues of St. Louis Are in Good Shape

By CHARLIE BAROUH
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Willie Mays keeps restin' and relaxin' while the San Francisco Giants keep a-movin' and a-groovin'.

And the St. Louis Cardinals keep fading away.
Mays ripped a two-run homer for the second night in a row and pushed the Giants into a 1-2 game lead in the National League with a 2-1 victory over the Cardinals Wednesday night.

And Juan Marichal kept pacing the league's pitchers by posting his eighth victory against two losses.

Willie has been taking a rap because he'll sit out a game every once in a while. And Mays doesn't care what anybody says, because it's hard to argue with his game-winning hits.

"A couple of guys have criticized me when I sat out, but I'm looking out for myself," the 37-year-old Willie says. "And for the club. So I don't care what people say."

"I'm not an iron man and I never will be," Mays added. "When I get tired I'm dead and when you're tired and the pressure that comes with it, I'm just not able to do it."

Mays was doing it against the Cardinals. St. Louis was ahead 1-0 on Lou Brock's first-inning run. Then Ron Hunt doubled with one away in the third and another out later Mays sent his ninth homer of the year and 573rd lifetime deep into the left field seats.

Those point-proving homers, jumped Mays into a tie for the league's home-run lead with three others.

Mays Relaxes and Giants Keep Rolling

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Blues are in great shape if they move up in the West Division of the National Hockey League as fast as Scotty Bowman is moving up in the expansion club organization.

Sidney Salomon Jr., chairman of the board and president of the hockey club, announced at a news conference Wednesday that Bowman is assuming the general manager duties in addition to his head coaching job.

Lynn Patrick is leaving his job as general manager to become the club's managing director, overseeing the team's entire operation.

ed the revamping of the club's executive operations, former Montreal great Doug Harvey, 43, was added to the Blues as player and assistant coach.

The appointment of the 33-year-old Bowman to the dual role capped the meteoric rise of hockey's youngest coach. Bowman had taken over the Blues after 16 games during the 1967-68 season and the Blues still were mired in the depths of the West Division standings.

The club surged to third place under him and made it into the Stanley Cup finals, where they lost a tight four-game series to the Montreal Canadiens.

Cartoonist's Drawing Worth $40,000

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Writer
SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Good grief, Snoopy! That Sop-with Camel is worth $40,000.

That's the price a real-life counterpart of the imaginary plane flown by cartoonist Charles Schulz's daydreaming canine character brought Wednesday at auction.

The World War I fighter drew the top bid at a sale of 30 antique planes which realized almost $300,000. Its original price was about $8,000.

Ten of the bids were in five figures, but by far the highest was that of J. W. Middendorf II, a private collector, of New York City. His telephoned-in advance offer for the hump-backed little biplane, believed the last in repairable condition, beat out all competitors.

Three planes brought $20,000: A Maurice Farman MF11 two place pusher biplane, a Fokker DVII biplane, and a Curtiss Gulfhawk biplane once owned by the late stunt flyer Al Williams.

More than 500 persons—Air Force officers, aircraft and auto designers, flying enthusiasts and private collectors—attended the auction in the movieland museum of the air at Orange County airport.

The planes were part of a collection assembled by two movie stunt pilots, Frank Tallman and the late Paul Mantz. They were sold last year to two Nebraska firms, Rosen-Novak Auto Co. of Omaha and Morrison-Quirk Grain Co. of Hastings.

No Legal Way, Says Purcell

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell said Tuesday there was not a legal way to place the question of legalizing the sale of mixed drinks on party primary ballots.

The opinion went to Rep. Worth Camp Jr. of El Dorado who wanted the returns from the primaries to serve as a guide for the 1969 legislature.

Purcell advised Camp that in his opinion the only sound legal approach would be legislative.

Camp had introduced a resolution urging the Democratic and Republican parties to place the question on their primary ballots. Camp also has introduced a bill to get the question on the ballots.

Boyer Bangs Homer in Traveler Win

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Len Boyer cracked a two-run homer in the second inning to carry Arkansas to a 2-1 Texas League victory over Dallas-Fort Worth Wednesday night.

Boyer's long blast followed a single by John Slin.

The Spurs had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the second on two singles and a hit batsman.

The Spurs left the bases loaded in the third inning and a gain in the ninth without scoring.

Joe Hamende came in to relief in the ninth inning to bail winner Santiago Guzman out of a jam. Roric Harrison was the loser for the Spurs.

In another Texas League game at Memphis, the Memphis Blues defeated Shreveport 4-2.

The victory enabled the Blues to move into a tie with Shreveport for the lead in the league's Eastern Division. Jim Bethke was the winning pitcher for Memphis. Joe Mook hit his first home of the year for Memphis.

In other league games, El Paso whipped Amarillo 9-5, and Albuquerque blanked San Antonio 1-0.

Death Count Starts Over the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain-slicked highways posed a hazard to motorists in many parts of the country today as thousands filled the nation's roadways on this first full day of the extended Memorial Day weekend.

The National Safety Council estimated in advance that between 625 and 725 Americans may lose their lives in traffic accidents in the period from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

The toll climbed slowly and reached 13 in the early hours of the weekend. On a recent four-day nonholiday weekend, a survey showed, 488 persons died in traffic accidents.

Although Memorial Day has become known as the first holiday of the warm season, cool weather clung to many areas of the country and, along with the rain, had an additional hampering effect on outdoor activities.

A final traffic toll at the lower end of the safety council estimate still would top the record of 608 for any Memorial Day observance. The record was set during a four-day holiday last year. The highest toll in traffic for any warm weather holiday was set during a four-day observance of Independence Day in 1967 when 732 died.

Mandate Asked on Hearing to Oust G&F

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's attorney asked the Arkansas Supreme Court Wednesday for an immediate mandate to allow the governor to proceed with his ouster hearings for some state Game and Fish commissioners.

The Supreme Court ruled Monday that Rockefeller could hold the hearings. Rockefeller has said he has evidence of misconduct in office by some commissioners, whom he hasn't identified.

Under normal court procedure the attorneys for the commissioners are allowed 17 days from the date of the decision to ask the court to reconsider the decision.

The governor's attorneys said the case was of a great public interest and early disposition of the issues were important. The high court adjourns early next month and will be in summer recess when the July 15 rehearing deadline expires.

Heartsill Ragon, Courtney Crouch and another person to be named will be the hearing officers for the governor.

By FRANK O'NEAL

was an indefinite sort of strong hand with no-trump distribution. Needless to say, four aces and a king filled the bill nicely.

As you can see North responded with a two heart call.
He knew that South would bid again. When South jumped to three no-trump, North went after 100-honors in hearts and rebid his nice suit. When South persisted with the properly that South held all the aces. North bid a heart slam.

It did him no good. South went right on to six no-trump and North gave up the hopeless struggle.

South played with perfect technique. He won the club opening and led a low spade to set up a possible squeeze if diamonds did not break.
Unfortunately for North and South the diamonds did not break and the squeeze didn't materialize. South got his 150 points for the aces but game, slam and rubber had gone into limbo.

Oswald Jacoby was mad
then. He is still mad 35 years later but with the passage of time some of his anger is turned against himself.

He knew that his partner liked to play no-trump. He should have realized that he was not going to get to play the hand and should have given up at three no-trump.

True, the heart slam was there since playing at hearts he could ruff his fourth diamond but what a good is a heart slam when you aren't going to be allowed to play in hearts?

♥CARD Sense♥

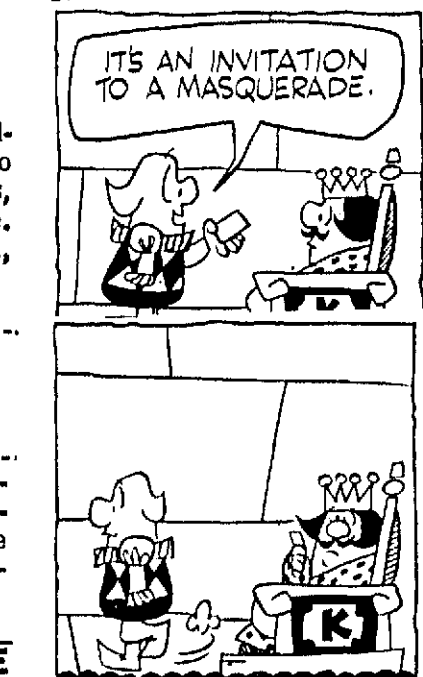

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
Pass 1 N.T. Pass 2
Pass 3 N.T. Pass 3
You, South, hold:
♠ 10 8 7 6 5 ♥ A K 9 4 3 ♦ K Q ♣ 2
What do you do now?
A—We have a slight preference for a four-heart bid, but no criticism for a pass. Let your conscience be your guide.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding one no-trump your partner responds two diamonds to your opening spade bid. You rebid two hearts and he jumps to four hearts.
What do you do now?

Labor Day is celebrated on May 1 in nearly every industrial country except the United States and Canada, where it is observed on the first Monday in September. It was officially declared a legal holiday in the United States by an act of Congress on June 28, 1894.

Morse Seems to Have Won Nomination

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon hasn't claimed victory, but he appears today to have won nomination in the Democratic primary Tuesday.

Morse, 68, had 49 per cent of the vote with 97 per cent of the state's precincts reporting. His chief opponent, Robert B. Duncan, 48, had 47 per cent of the vote.

Duncan's only comment Wednesday on the close vote was "the ball game isn't over yet."

Morse refused to comment.

With 85 precincts still not reporting, Morse had 173,327 votes to Duncan's 166,506. A third candidate, Phil McAlmond, had 16,953.

Morse is a former law school dean who served two Senate terms as a Republican and is in his second term as a Democrat. This is the first time he has faced a serious challenge in a primary.

Duncan is a Portland lawyer who tried for the Senate two years ago against then-Gov. Mark O. Hatfield. Duncan blamed Morse's refusal to support him for his 1966 defeat.

Duncan took a strong position backing the administration's Vietnam policy. Morse is a bitter critic of that policy.

Mills Won't Change for Protestors

WASHINGTON (AP) — A delegation from the Poor Peoples campaign visited the office of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., for the third time Wednesday. The delegation demanded repeal of Mills-sponsored legislation that freezes welfare aid to dependent children.

"I can't do that," Mills told the group after the 30-minute meeting.

Mills said he told the group that if there are administrative failures in the legislation "get me case histories so I can look into it."

The Poor Peoples campaign has singled Mills out as one of the individual lawmakers against whom they would protest.

The Mills legislation being objected to is in the 1967 Social Security Act and provides for freezing the number of children receiving aid under the Aid to Dependent Children Program. It also sets up requirements for work by adult members of families receiving such aid.

Dr. George Wiley, leader of the delegation, said Mills had told the delegation that he would take a look at the bill "after a while."

"We are going to keep up our demands," Wiley said. "We are going to keep pressing this business so that Mr. Mills will see the light."

Union Eying the Public Employees

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The giant Teamsters Union is stepping up its bid to organize public employees ranging from garbage men to school workers, the nation's most rapidly growing field of labor organization.

"We are organizing them, accepting them as members and representing them vigorously," said Frank E. Fitzsimmons, acting president of the Teamsters.

The organizing effort puts the independent 1.9-million-member Teamsters in increasing competition with the AFL-CIO American Federation of State County and Municipal Workers, long the most active union in the field.

"We have been having battles with them right along," said Jerry Wurf, president of the 400,000-member State, County and Municipal Workers.

But Wurf said his union—with membership he said is soaring by some 1,000 a week—isn't worried about the competition.

"We beat the pants off them" in most election contests for union membership, Wurf said in an interview.

The Teamsters, despite its greater size, represents a far smaller proportion of public workers than Wurf's union.

The two most notable strikes of the two unions this year involved garbage men.

The Teamsters represent New York City sanitation workers, who struck for nine days in February. Wurf's union represents Memphis garbage men, whose long strike sparked major civil rights demonstrations during which Dr. Martin Luther King was slain by a sniper.

The two unions also compete to organize school, hospital, welfare, police and fire department employees in many areas.

Fitzsimmons, in an article in the Teamsters Union magazine, said public employees are "catching up on a public debt" in demanding higher pay and better working conditions.

Both Fitzsimmons and Wurf contend most public workers should have the right to strike, except possibly police and firemen in some cases. Many states forbid public employees from striking.

McCarthy, Kennedy Plan Debate

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, who will face each other in the California Democratic primary next Tuesday, have agreed to hold a live television debate this weekend.

The three major networks said in separate announcements Wednesday that they would make network time available for joint appearances by the two senators, both of whom are on the California ballot, and also by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, if he wished to participate.

Norman Sherman, Humphrey's press secretary, said in Washington today that prior commitments—in Arkansas Saturday night and Sunday—make it impossible for Humphrey to participate in a debate. Sherman said he had not seen an official invitation from any network, but knew of the offers.

Aims to Free Mozambique From Portugal

By C. C. MINICLIER
Associated Press Writer

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — The former professor eyed suspiciously the door of a hotel suite.

"I may be killed any day—but there will be victory," said Eduardo Mondlane, 47-year-old leader of an East African group seeking to wrest Mozambique from Portuguese rule.

The odds are against him, but he is used to overcoming odds. His Front for the Liberation of Mozambique, Frelimo, went into action in 1964 with 250 armed men. Today it claims to be able to field a force of 10,000 men—and to have knocked out 6,000 Portuguese troops. But that he had accepted debate offers from all three networks "rather than make a selection."

A spokesman for Kennedy said: "He'll definitely accept one if not all three." The spokesman gave no indication of when or where Kennedy would announce his decision.

The National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. had said they would go ahead with debate plans if two of the three presidential aspirants would participate. The networks offered one-hour debates, to be carried simultaneously on television and radio.

NBC said it was ready to televise a debate on Friday at 10 p.m., Saturday at 7:30 p.m. or Sunday at 6:30 p.m. (EDT).

CBS invited the candidates to debate Sunday at 7 p.m.

ABC said it had set aside time starting Saturday at 9:30 p.m.

Freilimo is not without inside stresses.

Mozambique is the East African outpost of Portuguese rule. The United Nations General Assembly has condemned Portugal's refusal to free it along with Angola and Portuguese Guinea on the west coast. Portugal denies they are colonies, and says the opportunities of Portuguese citizenship are open to all the people.

Mondlane is a native of Mozambique who was educated in South Africa and at Harvard and once taught anthropology at Syracuse University in New York.

The Portuguese admit to having an army of 42,000 in Mozambique. Mondlane says the figure is closer to 65,000. "It is not the soldiers we are concerned about; it is the airplanes," he says, adding that anti-aircraft weapons are expected soon.

His group claims control of the northern province of Niassa. "We control the border. The Portuguese army is in garrison and come and go by air," Mondlane says. He says he was in Mozambique in mid-May and his men also are active in the provinces of Cabo Delgado, Tete and Zambezia.

Arms come from sympathetic countries, including Communist China, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia as well as African countries offering British and Belgian weapons.

Frelimo operates a school in Tanzania to prepare leaders for the day when it hopes Portuguese rule is ended.

Mondlane, whose library is filled with revolutionary works from Spanish, North Vietnamese, Greek, Chinese and other masters of the art, also faces nonmilitary opposition. He has a white American wife whom opponents criticize on racial grounds.

Princeton Shucks That 1950s Image

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Princeton University, which gave the name the Silent Generation to the students of the 1950s, has shucked that image in this year of campus unrest.

In the past year:
1. A member of the radical Students for a Democratic Society was elected president of the student government.

2. A Negro was elected president of the sophomore class.

3. An SDS-organized demonstration for student power drew 1,000 students to the office of the university president.

4. Thirty students were arrested while protesting an on-campus Defense Department research installation.

These were among changes the 222-year-old Ivy League institution underwent in a school year in which rebellious students seized university buildings on dozens of campuses across the country.

Yet, the protests at Princeton were less militant, more refined than those, for instance, at Columbia University, a fellow Ivy League member.

And the trappings that gave rise to Princeton's image as a gentlemen's school are still very much in evidence on the plush green campus in central New Jersey.

Most of Princeton's clean shaven, well-starched undergrads still cling to the image of well educated, socially minded young men.

"Image is a very real part of life here," said Richard Rein, chairman of the Daily Princetonian, the undergraduate newspaper. "Princeton students work hard and then party hard as hell on weekends. That's part of the image."

But the feeling persists on campus that something, indeed, has happened to staid-old Princeton, something that has thrust the university into the social concerns of the 1960s.

Before the demonstration last fall at the Institute for Defense Analysis facility, the previous time large numbers of Princeton students were arrested was in 1963. That year the students rampaged down the main street of town and past the governor's mansion, resulting in about 30 arrests.

The acknowledged cause: spring fever.

The Silent Generation, a term depicting the lack of political and social involvement by the nation's college students, was the title of a book by a Princeton politics professor, Otto Butz. It consisted of interviews with Princeton undergraduates who discussed their concerns and goals.

Involvement is now more intense—Princeton students are demanding a greater voice in the running of the university.

Last month, nearly 1,000 students, including SDS students and sympathizers, marched on Nassau Hall, where President Robert F. Goheen has his offices, to press for greater student-faculty voice in the administration of Princeton.

This touched off a series of faculty and administration meetings and a study is now in progress to determine what the role of the students should be in running the university.

But Goheen, Class of '40, sees no radical change taking place. "Princeton is always changing," he noted in an interview. The 49-year old president, who favors tweed sports jackets and bow ties, acknowledged, however, that today's Princeton undergraduate differs from previous students.

"Students then were less diversified, less prepared and weren't as competitive as today's are," he said. In past years, Princetonians were a well heeled group, with most coming from preparatory schools. Today, 60 per cent of the undergraduates come from public high schools, and half of all students receive some form of financial assistance.

Elliott Moorman of Newark, one of about 50 Negroes among the 3,200 undergraduates, is president of the sophomore class. He chose Princeton over Harvard, Yale and Notre Dame because at Princeton there was the challenge of changing attitudes.

Except for several Negroes who attended Princeton in the 1920s, there were no Negroes at the university prior to World War II. The school has accepted more than 70 for next fall's freshman class.

"Ever since World War II we've been looking for qualified Negro students," said Goheen. "Unfortunately, far too few Negroes receive schooling opportunities to permit them to do so."

Kennedy Says California Last Chance

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAW
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, calling California's approaching primary the ultimate test of his presidential bid, takes his campaign on an old-fashioned whistlestop tour today.

The seven-stop route runs from Fresno in central California more than 150 miles northward through rich farmland and small towns to Sacramento, the capital.

When the New York senator campaigned in Los Angeles and nearby cities Wednesday, thousands cheered him, threw confetti and lunged for a handshake as if he hadn't lost the Oregon primary to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy the day before.

But Kennedy's statements had changed:

—He said for the first time he'll support the Democratic party's nominee.

—He said he'll accept one or more of three network television offers to debate McCarthy, offers he spurned before. A debate was in the works for Sunday.

—He stopped directing his fire at Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey—who isn't entered in the California primary—and said, "We'll now have to beat McCarthy."

Calling the June 4 primary his "ultimate test," he said, "I will abide by the results of that test."

When asked if that meant he would drop out of the race, he stuck to his statement.

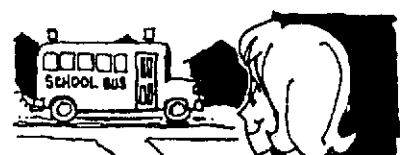

At a news conference Kennedy called the Oregon results "a setback, as I have previously stated, which I could ill afford."

Kennedy said he wouldn't accept second spot on a ticket led by Humphrey. He called Humphrey a "fine man" but said, "If the vice president is nominated against Richard Nixon there will be no candidate opposed to continuous escalation of the war in Vietnam and no candidate committed to remedying the conditions which have transformed our cities into armed camps."

True Dislocation Of Knee Is Uncommon

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What would cause a person's bones to go out of joint? First it was my shoulder, then my knee and then my ankle.

A—A dislocation occurs when a long bone is forced into an unnatural position and the joint capsule tears, allowing the bone to leave the joint. True dislocation of the knee is rare, but locking of this joint due to a torn knee cartilage is common and is often erroneously called dislocation of the knee. If you are an accident-prone person, you should learn to relax when you fall, like a professional tumbler, or avoid rough sports.

Q—My husband has water on his knee. What causes it and can anything be done for it?

A—Water on the knee is an accumulation of synovial fluid in the joint, due to inflammation. Various treatments have been used, depending on individual circumstances. These include keeping the knee elevated and applying ice bags for two or three days, withdrawing the fluid and injecting hydrocortisone into the joint or, in chronic cases (those of at least three years' duration), injecting a colloidal radioactive gold solution.

Q—What are the symptoms of a torn cartilage in the knee? What is the best treatment for it?

A—A torn cartilage in the knee will cause intermittent attacks of locking of the joint, pain and an accumulation of fluid in the joint. X-ray films are negative because they do not show soft parts (skin, blood vessels, nerves, tendons, muscles and cartilage). Once torn, a cartilage rarely heals and the only cure is surgical removal of the torn fragment. Whether this needs to be done or not depends on how much trouble the knee is giving you and how well you can manage with ice packs, rest and protective bandaging.

Q—During an operation (arthrodesis), a screw was placed in my ankle bone. How can I tell when the screw should be removed? If some pain returns, would this be caused by the screw?

A—Arthrodesis is a surgical freezing or immobilizing of a joint. When a screw is driven into a bone, it is often left there for life. Any decision to remove it should be left up to your surgeon. Pain in the ankle following this operation might be from a variety of causes but it is most unlikely that it is caused by the screw.

A few radical revolutionaries would be very happy to see the university brought to a halt," Goheen said. "But it's a very small number—even of SDS itself."

The SDS chapter, headquartered in the basement of a student activities building, numbers about 100 students and several hundred more sympathizers.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Johnson News Conference in Afternoon

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex., (AP)—President Johnson launched a busy Memorial Day sojourn to his Texas ranch today, calling for prayers for peace and conferring with his Vietnam military commander and an Asian ally.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Australian Prime Minister John G. Gorton flew to join Johnson at the LBJ Ranch.

The three were to appear on a nationally televised and broadcast news conference in the ranch plane hangar at 1:30 p.m. EDT.

Westmoreland, winding up his duty tour in Vietnam, is returning to Washington to become Army chief of staff. Gorton, on a visit to the United States, was invited by the President to spend a day at the ranch, along with his American-born wife.

The ranch gathering was a combination of top-level talks and a social interlude, with the President eager to show off his Pedernales River ranch to the Gortons, who were ranchers themselves back in Australia.

The flag at the LBJ Ranch was to be at half staff for Memorial Day—the special mark of respect Johnson ordered at home and abroad in memory of "gallant Americans who sacrificed their lives in Vietnam."

Johnson began his long holiday weekend Wednesday by stopping off in Fort Worth for a rally honoring a longtime political friend, Rep. James C. Wright, D-Tex., and to deliver the commencement speech at Texas Christian University.

Addressing himself to the 1,200 TCU graduates and other American collegians as well, the President expressed his faith in young people and said it was time to "move forward now to grant the vote to 18-year-olds."

Applause greeted this proposal.

"The great majority of young people in America have demonstrated their maturity, their desire to participate, their zeal for service," the President said in proposing they be given a bigger role in public life.

Aides said Johnson probably will soon propose a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age.

Only Georgia and Kentucky give the vote to 18-year-olds. Alaska's minimum voting age is 19 and Hawaii's is 20.

Johnson said the American campus today is "the center of rapid change and heated controversy."

He cautioned collegians: "Those who glorify violence as a form of political action are really the best friends the status quo ever had. They provoke a powerful conservative reaction among millions of people. They inspire, among people, a blind allegiance to things as they are—even when these things ought to be changed.

"Though they are great in volume, these young totalitarians of opinion are few in number among America's graduating classes this spring."

He pronounced the current generation of college youngsters "the best I have ever seen." And the chief executive expressed his faith in their capacity "to change our country for the better."

Students Defy Flag Order

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Every time the American flag at the University of Georgia was lowered to half staff on orders of Gov. Lester Maddox Wednesday, a small group of students would raise it again.

It happened several times, an observer reported.

Maddox had ordered all flags on state property at half staff until sundown Wednesday so Georgia could grieve officially over the U.S. Supreme Court's decision outlawing freedom-of-choice school integration plans.

But the students, calling their group the Movement for Human Equality, saw it differently.

After hauling old glory to the top, they sent this telegram to the governor: "The flag is flying high at the University of Georgia. We respect the Supreme Court."

Prison Farm Practices Attacked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Board of Correction Chairman John Haley of Little Rock said Wednesday that the bills being considered by the legislature would give the Department of Corrections about $275,000 less than what is needed to "just hold our own."

Haley presented a gloomy picture of the prison system's financial situation at a meeting of the board following his appearance in both houses of the legislature.

Haley said the amended bills under consideration would give the department $700,000 from the governor's contingency fund, $211,000 by transferring construction funds to operating funds and $112,000 from the sale of rice cooperative certificates until the end of the biennium.

Haley told the board that with only that amount of money the department would be unable to fund its proposed prison industry program and would be unable to hire anyone for its parole staff.

In the House, Haley said that legislative cuts in the department's request would force the prison system to reduce the number of civilian employees.

The previous special legislative session authorized the prison to increase its number of civilian employees from 35 to 114 and the department increased the number to 107. Haley said it might have to cut back as low as 57.

The farming practices at Tucker Prison Farm last year under the direction of Thomas O. Murton also came in for some criticism in the House.

Haley said that the rice crop at Tucker was a disaster but denied that it was Murton's fault. He said it was due to the cancellation of a management contract with the Hartz Seed Co. of Stuttgart. Haley blamed Rep. G. W. Turner of Pine Bluff for the cancellation.

Turner sponsored a resolution which was adopted in the regular session of the legislature last year which led to an attorney general's opinion that the contract was illegal.

Several representatives questioned Haley sharply about why the board had been spending beyond its income. Haley said that the board believed that the General Assembly would want to continue with the reform program and would provide additional money at the special session.

that no costs of the camp-in will be paid by the federal government or by the taxpayers of the District of Columbia. The campaign relies for its housing, food and other outlays on volunteer work and private donations of money and services.

However, the campaign leaders have not yet made good on their agreement with the Park Service to connect the camp with existing sewer lines and water mains underground, largely because of downpours of rain and shortages of money and skilled manpower.

Portable chemical toilets are being used and water is supplied from some fire hydrants and standpipes and a water truck which visits daily. Some showers have been installed.

Some concern over a possible outbreak of influenza has been felt by the D. C. Health Department, and it has begun vaccinating the campers.

All-America:
It's Name Is Automobile

Agitators' stories about "hungry people" in America are automatically discounted by the 1968 Digest of Automobile Facts & Figures, which shows that, hungry or not, four out of every five households have a car. And one out of every four is a two-car home.

Other figures from the Automobile Manufacturers Association publication are equally startling. Of all 1967 model cars—85 per cent had automatic transmissions, V-8 engines, and radios.

75 per cent had power-steering. 38 per cent boasted power brakes and factory air-conditioning.

The most popular body model is the two-door hardtop, passing the four-door sedan in 1965 and accounting for 43 per cent of production in 1967.

The United States has 52.6 per cent of the world's motor cars but our percentage is slipping. It was 66.1 per cent in 1958—since when other nations have improved their standard of living.

How long does the average family keep a car? The average car's age was 5.63 years in 1967, dropping from 5.71 in 1966 and 5.9 in 1965.

Only 16 per cent of auto mobiles are trucks, but they pay 32 per cent of all special federal and state vehicle taxes.

The impact of the motor industry upon American business is tremendous. One out of every six business firms is an automobile sales outlet, service, or supplier.

House Sought to Condemn Newspaper

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House today spent about 30 minutes arguing a resolution that would have condemned the Arkansas Democrat for publishing an editorial and cartoon May 23 that some legislators contended was too critical of the legislature.

The cartoon and editorial dealt with "hypocrisy" surrounding the mixed drink issue in Arkansas and criticized the Methodist Church for adopting a resolution urging the legislature to defeat the administration's mixed drink bill.

The resolution, which failed, was drawn by Reps. Albert Hays of Stuttgart and John Bethell of Des Arc.

Rep. Cal Ledbetter of Little Rock said he believed that adoption of the resolution would be condemning editorial comment and would violate a basic part of free speech.

Bethell said 20 years ago the news media wouldn't have dared support a drink bill in Arkansas.

He also abhorred open drinking shown on television and in magazine advertisements.

"All of us lack a whole lot in this old world of being perfect," Bethell said.

Bethell said he once told the House that he "drank wet and voted dry," but that his statement was misinterpreted.

"I was only trying to say that I'm not perfect and neither are you," Bethell said.

He said the mixed drink bill would have created open bars in every hotel and restaurant in Little Rock and Hot Springs.

"Our children are in here (Little Rock) almost monthly and I know you don't want them to be sitting in the restaurant at the Marion Hotel with mixed drinks being served," Bethell said.

House Speaker Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock interrupted to say that he would exercise his privilege to vote because he felt the resolution was "very unwise."

Ex-Educator Dies at 80

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — James V. Spence Sr., 80, of El Dorado, a former member of the state Board of Education, died Wednesday.

Spence founded the Victoria Oil Co., and the Strong Light Plant. He served as a member of the Board of Education under three governors.

House Votes to Transfer State Funds

BULLETIN
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The last major tax bill pending in special legislative session fell six votes short of passage in the Senate today, but it was kept alive temporarily on a reconsideration motion.

The Senate voted 21-14 in favor of a $4,750,000 tobacco tax bill, but the measure needed 27 votes to pass.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House today amended a Senate bill to transfer $1.5 million from the revolving fund to the Welfare Department to be used to grant elderly persons a $5 increase in monthly benefits.

The House adopted the amendment by a 61-20 vote, then passed the bill 71-1 and sent it back to the Senate for concurrence.

Also passed 86-0 was a Senate bill permitting the state Administration Department to transfer unencumbered balances in the general budget fund at the end of each fiscal year.

The House also concurred 89-0 in a Senate amendment to a bill permitting a transfer of funds under the Revenue Stabilization Act and sent the measure to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller for his signature.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislature, moving toward final adjournment at noon today, left Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's special session legislative program in shambles Wednesday.

The House defeated the governor's riot control bill and the Senate dealt a killing blow to the mixed drink bill.

The governor, before flying to Memphis Wednesday to attend a gridiron show, conceded there was little hope of salvaging anything from his program.

Rockefeller said the legislature had created a situation that will require prompt action when it meets again in 1969.

Asked what he may say about the legislature while campaigning this fall, the governor said, "In certain areas, I may suggest that some of the actions not taken were actions of irresponsibility."

The Senate put the mixed drink bill to a quiet death by voting 23-10 to table it. Afterward, Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, who handled the measure, said that Rockefeller's support of the bill had helped kill it.

"They just weren't going to pass anything he's for," Hurst said. "And he's honest in this."

Legislators have reacted negatively to the mixed bill ever since Rockefeller announced he was including the proposal in his special session call.

Hurst said that Arkansas See HOUSE VOTES on Page Two

Earth Is But a Vast Tomb, the Living Are Temporary Wayfarers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memorial Day is a resurrection.

Millions of flowers, placed with loving hands, bloom upon a tidal wave of graves tenanted by gathering millions of ours honored dead—those fallen in war, those fallen in peace.

Housewives and warriors, farmers and statesmen, orphans and overlords, girls and grandfathers—all sleep together in the tremendous democracy of death's common pasture.

The earth itself is but a vast tomb and the living are but temporary wayfarers upon its surface. But on Memorial Day they walk in spirit again, hand in hand, heart to heart, with those who lie forgotten beneath the headstones. Memory welds anew a vanished unity.

The problem of loss and bereavement has stirred the sages of the ages, and these are a few of the thoughts they held:

"Grief is crowned with consolation." — Shakespeare.

"Thou shalt rest sweetly if thy heart reprehend thee not."

— Cicero.

"Memory is the one paradise out of which we cannot be driven." — Sacha Guitry.

"The things that were hardest to bear are sweetest to remember." — Seneca.

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start when memory plays an old tune on the heart."

Signal That May Have Been From Scorpion Is Picked Up 'Very Clear'

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Navy today dropped an effort to locate the source of a radio transmission which appeared to have come from the missing submarine Scorpion.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Hope that flared "h word Wednesday night" radio message seemingly the missing submarine flickered with the dawn today when no repeat transmissions had been picked up.

Navy spokesmen said investigation results were reported negative about 12 hours after six destroyers were sent into the Atlantic to hunt the source of the message heard by a Navy patrol plane and six ships about 8:28 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

Navy officers acknowledged the possibility the lone message, which identified the sender with the secret code name for the Scorpion, might have been a hoax.

But a spokesman for the Atlantic Submarine Force said, "We still maintain the possibility that Scorpion will be found." That statement echoed words of Cmdr. T. L. Ingraham, force public affairs officer, who told a news conference earlier today: "The Navy still maintains hope."

The radio message was picked up when the patrol plane receiving it was 110 miles east of Norfolk. Search units were concentrated in an area stretching from 110 miles to more than 300 miles east of Norfolk. But no further radio transmissions were reported.

The sole message said: "Any station this network. This is (and then gave the code name for the Scorpion.)"

The Navy said the code name has been repeated numerous times in communications among the search force ships and planes.

French Crisis Could Force a Shift in the Vietnam Peace Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks which the French proudly welcomed less than a month ago may have to be shifted away from Paris in the next few weeks if France's domestic crisis continues.

Officially the United States and North Vietnam have so far ignored the possible impact of the upheaval on their conference.

Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy and their delegations have gone about their meetings without interruption or any serious inconvenience. They live and work in a world apart from the demonstrations of students and workers, the street battles in the Latin Quarter, and the political agony of a society in rebellion. U.S. spokesman William J. Jorden told reporters Wednesday that to date the crisis has had no effect on the work of the delegations. He declined further comment, saying the situation is France's own internal affair.

But no one is sure how long the isolation of the conference can continue. The negotiating teams are dependent on the French economy for food and services. So far as is known they rely primarily on French facilities for their communications. The French government furnishes police for their protection. Their shirts are washed and ironed in French laundries.

Perhaps the most serious problem for the Americans to date has been to arrange transportation in and out of the country. With Orly Airport closed by general strike, officials leaving or joining Harriman's group usually had to travel between Paris and Brussels by bus or car until two days ago when a military field near Paris was opened to commercial air traffic.

Thuy and other members of the North Vietnamese delegation live outside Paris at Choisy-le-Roi. They moved from the Hotel Lutetia, about a mile from the Latin Quarter, two weeks ago. The move was understood to mean they were settling in for long negotiations here. It also took them far away from the turbulence of the university area.

Harriman and his team live in the Hotel Crillon on the Place de la Concorde across the Seine River from the Latin Quarter. Their offices are next door in the U.S. embassy. This district which also includes the Elysee Palace, President Charles de Gaulle's official residence, has been under massive police guard since the trouble started.

The Americans take their meals in the embassy cafeteria or the many restaurants for which Paris is famous. Having no embassy cars available they are not seriously limited in their activities by the taxi, subway and bus strikes.

"If things get no worse," one American said, "we can go on like this indefinitely."

The embassy and the Crillon, like many other establishments in the city, have standby electric generators but those are dependent on diesel fuel or gasoline to keep them running.

Dr. Ralph Phelps, President of Ouachita Baptist University, will preach both services Sunday, June 2, at First Baptist Church, Hope, Arkansas. Services are at 10:45 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

Dr. Phelps has just completed his 15th year as President of Ouachita Baptist University, having taken a leave of absence last year to serve as Southwest Region Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity. He is an outstanding speaker and much in demand. We are grateful for the opportunity to hear him, and the public is cordially invited to attend the services this Sunday, June 2.

Nation in Tribute to War Dead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Americans honored their war dead today, the 100th anniversary of Memorial Day, as President Johnson told the nation's armed forces "We yearn for an end to war, for a time when the guns will be silenced forever."

The sound of taps, the fragrance of flowers and the measured tread to martial music will accompany the speeches, readings and memorial observances in cities from coast to coast.

As the casualty lists continued to grow in Vietnam, many Americans gathered in sorrow before fresh graves to plant flags and flowers in the tradition that was begun on May 30, 1868.

Then it was Gen. John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, who decreed that the day should be set aside "for the purpose of strewing flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of the country in the late rebellion."

And through periods of peace and a succession of wars the practice continued.

Defense Secretary Clark Clifford was to place the President's wreath on the Arlington National Cemetery tomb of three soldiers whose names are lost forever to history.

Built to house an unknown soldier of World War I in honor of all those whose remains could not be identified, the tomb has since been made the final resting place of two more unknown soldiers, from World War II and the Korean War.

Twenty-five North Vietnamese were reported killed and another 47 U.S. troops wounded.

In efforts to chop up massing North Vietnamese concentrations of up to 15,000 troops in the highlands, huge B52s saturated the jungled mountains with bombs.

Smaller Air Force, Navy and Marine tactical fighter-bombers streaked through moderate anti-aircraft fire farther north to pound North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

Allies Fight Enemy in Saigon Area

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Allied soldiers fought doggedly in monsoon rains and blistering 100-degree heat today against Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces from Saigon to the marshlands just below the demilitarized zone.

Wary U.S. Marines reported killing 63 North Vietnamese troops in two days of fighting along South Vietnam's northern frontier. This raised the toll of enemy claimed killed by allied forces along the DMZ since last Saturday to more than 1,000.

The latest clash cost the Leathernecks nine killed and 43 wounded, the U.S. Command reported.

Elements of North Vietnam's crack 325C Division kept the pressure on allied forces deployed in the craggy central highlands, marshalling heavy firepower, grenades and mortars ahead of a troop charge aimed at overrunning a U.S. 4th Division position 11 miles west of Dak To.

The GLs dug in deeper, then replied to the enemy barrage with their own artillery, machine guns, mortars and small arms fire. Headquarters said the U.S. infantrymen repulsed the enemy attack after three hours of fighting.

Twenty-five North Vietnamese and eight Americans were reported killed and another 47 U.S. troops wounded.

In efforts to chop up massing North Vietnamese concentrations of up to 15,000 troops in the highlands, huge B52s saturated the jungled mountains with bombs.

Smaller Air Force, Navy and Marine tactical fighter-bombers streaked through moderate anti-aircraft fire farther north to pound North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

Strikers Told Steps to Be Taken

By RODNEY ANGOVE
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today France is threatened by a "totalitarian Communist" dictatorship and he has no intention of resigning. He dissolved the National Assembly but kept Georges Pompidou as premier.

De Gaulle spoke to the nation by radio. His voice was firm and vigorous. He seemed to be in a fighting mood, after holding back during the two weeks that the strike waves have been spreading and threatening France with economic paralysis.

He spoke in short, clipped sentences and said he would consider "other means than the immediate elections" if the worker showdown of force continued against his government.

"In the present circumstances," De Gaulle said, "I shall not withdraw. I have a mandate from the people. I shall fulfill it. I will not change the premier, whose value, solidity and capacity merit the homage of all."

De Gaulle and the government had seemed to be vacillating in the face of a suffocating strike wave that has idled an estimated eight to 10 million workers and closed all universities.

But the president indicated that his patience was at an end and that he intended to use the tools of the government vigorously in a counterattack.

De Gaulle said that he was postponing the date of the scheduled June 16 referendum on his program of reform for the economy and universities. He gave no date for the legislative elections but said they would be held within the limit set by the constitution. The constitution provides that elections shall be held 20 to 40 days after the assembly is dissolved.

De Gaulle asserted that "the present situation physically prevents" a vote on the referendum at this time.

He said that the elections for deputies would be held "unless an attempt is made to gag the entire French people by preventing it from expressing itself at the same time as an attempt is made to keep it from living, by the same means as students are prevented from studying, teachers from teaching, workers from working."

"The means are intimidation, deception and tyranny exerted by groups long organized for the purpose by a party which is a totalitarian enterprise, though it has rivals in this respect," he declared.

MOTHER HAS'T YET RECOVERED FROM SHOCK

Dear Helen: Last year I was 14, fat and unwanted. My mother was always trying to push me into parties and getting boys interested, etc. It didn't work. This year I am thin in the right places, and all of a sudden I can't walk down the street without boys gathering round. I was surprised at first and real pleased, but I don't let it go to my head.

But now, my mother has changed completely. She says I can't date until a sophomore, and she has to know every last detail about any party I'm invited to. How come she was so anxious for me to be popular when I wasn't and now that I am, she doesn't like it? — SLIMMED DOWN BUT STILL WAITING

Dear Slim: Give your mother time. After nursing along a coon, it's pretty hard adjusting to a sudden butterfly. She'd rather be sure your wings are strong before she lets you sail too high with them. — H.

Dear Helen: The girl I work with is over 21 so it's none of my business but I think she's pretty stupid. This man asked her to his apartment to fix dinner for him. Ever since, she has been going up three times a week, to clean, cook, wash, and iron. Don't you think she is being had? — MIL

Dear Mil: Probably. — H.

Dear Helen: My gripe is long gloves for formal dances. Yes, I know it's etiquette, but are they necessary? After all, hats were a few years ago, and now my mother tells me, and now who wears them?

Those gloves are usually white, but they don't stay that way — not with boys' sweaty palms. They are the Dickens to button — and just about the time you get them on, you need to use your fingers for something like pinning up a broken strap, so off they come again. Then when you go out to eat — it's off again, on again, and you're lucky if you don't lose one under the table. And after the dance — how can you run your fingers through a boy's hair, with gloves on!

Besides they hide your engagement ring! And they look awkward. Who's with me in saying, "DOWN WITH FORMAL GLOVES?"

Dear Down: Count me in. They really ARE a nuisance! Not only during formal dances, but any time they aren't needed for warmth. — H.

Dear Helen: This is in answer to "Lonely Teen-ager" who wonders why boys are friendly but don't ask her out. As a guy who has dated for many years, I know some reasons why cute, intelligent-type girls don't make it.

All males have a nagging fear of rejection. They are afraid that when they ask a "doll" out she either won't want to go, or she already has a boyfriend, and they'll feel like fools.

Another reason: Teen-age boys aren't famous for their great wealth. Most figure they need a lot of coins to date, and they don't care about bankrupting themselves.

Contrary to popular belief, boys do not like fast and loose girls, who are often looked upon as a joke and a point of ridicule.

So my advice to L. T. is: Make sure the guys know you are unattached, and don't have expensive tastes. Don't be witty to the point of making them feel inferior, but don't act dumb either — and keep your morals firm! EXPERIENCED 18-YEAR OLD.
